

CROSSFILING FOR EXAMS

You may crossfile between civil service jurisdictions when they are giving the same exam on the same date. Your score from the exam will be reported to each of the jurisdictions in which you have crossfiled.

To Crossfile:

- (a) File an application and crossfiling form with each jurisdiction in which you are interested. To be eligible for the exams, your applications must be conditionally approved per the minimum qualifications of those jurisdictions.
- (b) Be sure to let each jurisdiction know where you plan to sit for the exam. If you are taking a NY State exam, you must sit at the NY State exam site.
- (c) You will receive admission letters from each jurisdiction in which you filed an application. You must bring those letters with you to the exam.
